AHT – Class A Heating

AHT Greece kicks off the new season with a smasher!

Fresh from their summer holidays the AHT Greece team lead by Stavros Gavrias kicked-off the new season with a smashing goal, a 600 m2 luxury beach-front villa in Kineta-Greece. The installation was successfully completed very fast and efficiently last week by the experienced AHT Greece installation crew under the supervision of Stavros Kossieris. The importance of this project was explained by a very happy Stavros Kossieris over a glass of ice-cool ouzo after finishing the installation, “This home is a Class A Energy Performance Certificate project and the owners wanted to use only the best available materials and systems in their home. For heating their home they had 8 different proposals from the biggest names in heating from countries such as Germany, Italy, Sweden, Spain, USA and of course from AHT. After a long assessment process they decided 100% to go with AHT because they wanted to install the best heating system in the world available and to forget it for the rest of their lives. It is clear that among all our advantages the fact that the AHT system does not need any service, repair or maintenance is a huge selling point and must always be stressed.”

We would like to congratulate Stavros Kossieris, Stavros Gavrias and their AHT Greece team for kick-starting the new season and thank them for their admirable and diligent work in a country suffering from many serious economic, financial and social problems. Bravo AHT Greece!
